

Still crazy after all these years
60 years of hypertext and counting...

human

Ability and willingness to read decreases.
Writing abilities will move towards speech.

We lack tools for discussions at scale.

We need trusted services and certificates to verify the authorship and authenticity of content!

CMS for multichannel publishing shall be democratized for all users!
The right to control and move my data with ease

Get out of the silos of platforms and small device screens!
Human and humanity centred design!

believe in the co-evolution of the humans'n/computer system

Doug: "...to support our collective ability to deal with complex urgent problems... It was [60] years ago. And that's been ever since."

Design research of hypertext history is a crucial step towards Human and Humanity Centred Design.

Thank you!
Matthias Müller-Prove
<https://mprove.de> @mprove

hypertext